MORMON DIFFICULTIES.

Popular Sovereignty. From the Ohio State Journal, 1853

One of the mest difficult questions of the day, and upon which the Administration is called to act, is the government of the Mormon Territory of Utah. It is a part of the Union and the Government must look after it so long as it remains a Territory. Congress makes annual appropriations of solid cash to pay the expenses of Territorial Government, and disregard of all law, neglect or refuse to make any returns, or in any way account to the Executive for the manner in which this money is expended. For more than two years not a single voucher or report has been received from them, while they have been in the annual receipt of the

has been received from them, while they have been in the annual receipt of the Government funds.

Some time ago, Judges, not of Mormon faith, were appointed by the President, confirmed by the Senate, and sent among them. A very short residence satisfied them that they had no practical authority, and that the people treated them and their attempts at the exercise of their judicial functions with great contempt. their attempts at the exercise of their ju-dicial functions with great contempt. They were finally driven out of the Terri-tory, and returned to Washington with a history of their exploits, which were pub-lished in the papers at the time. Brig-ham Young, the patriarch of the flock, ham Young, the patriarch of the flock, was some time since appointed Governor. His commission has expired, yet no successor has been appointed, and no successor can be appointed with any hope of acting as Governor, unless he has two or three regiments of troops at his command. In an address to his people, published in the Deseret News, of (March, 19), Brigham Young uses the following lasenage.

We have got a Territorial government, and I am and will be the Government, and no power can hinder it until the Belgham, you need not Almighty says, Brigham, you need not be the Governor any longer; and then I am willing to yield to another.

'No persons need trouble themselves about whether or no he would be re-moved, for the Lord would control the matter just as he pleased; and neither President Pierce nor any other Presi-dent would remove him until the Lord

"Every man that comes to impose on this people, no matter by whom they are sent, or who they are that are sent, they lay the axe at the root of the tree te kill themselves. They had better be careful how they come here, lest I should bend my little finger."

This looks very much like a declara-tion of war against the rest of the Union. It is at least a defiance that is full of It is at least a defance that is full of evil omen for the future peace and well-being of the Territory. The practical question is now forced upon the Govern-ment at Washington whether they will see the laws of the nation obeyed, or whether they will permit this lawless band to remain in open rebellion with-out an effort to bring them to subjection. It is probable the subject will come up before Congress at its next session. before Congress at its next session.

PROPESSIONAL INCOMES OF NEW YORK PROFESSIONAL INCOMES OF NEW YORK LAWYERS.—Among those who resped a handsome harvest out of the recent panic, the legal fraternity stands preminent. An immense lucrease of litigation has been its inevitable result. Every merchant, banker or broker who was in trouble was obliged to retain a lawyer, and in many instances more than one. For instance, the Grinnell bankruptcy case, when it first appeared before Judge Blatchford, brought six well-paid-lawyers into court. The fees required by these men on such an occasion would not be less than $10,000. casion would not be less than $10,000. casion would not be less than $10,000, and the cost of the entire Grinell suit will probably equal five times that sum. This may seem like a large estimate, but it is to be remembered that the security will be the beauty of the security o curities which this house held were $12, 000,000, and the amount at stake always has a bearing on the legal charges. Our best lawyers value their time from $40 to $50 per hour, which is a reasonable charge. By a consultation with one of these men you can obtain an opinion which is worth fifty times the amount of the fee. If however, the case he one which is worth fifty times the amount of the tee. If, however, the case be one where half a million is at stake, then instead of a mere $50 you will be expected to advance a retaining fee of $500, or perhaps $1,000. This prevents any one from securing the services of the lawyer thus retained. If a lawyer, even after receiving such a fee, should win the case, he will expect from $10,000 to $15,000 additional. The great lawyers demand pay commensurate with their reputation. additional. The great lawyers demand pay commensurate with their reputation, and hence some of them can boast a practice worth $50,000 per year. O'Connor, previous to his retirement, made annually, it is said, nearly four times that sum. Indeed, he was probably paid $200,000 for his services in the Jumel case. He is now worth more than a million, all of which he has made by his own genus and industry.—[Correspondence of Troy Times.
